Mayor proposes joining forces with downriver job training service area

By Christine Rizk
ANP Staff Writer

Mayor Beverly McAnally said she doesn't know what all the fuss is about now that it has been made public that she wants Romulus to join the downriver job training service area.

"If there are 200 jobs available for my people then I'm going to be on whichever doorstep that can provide those jobs," she commented during a Jan. 23 meeting of the Michigan Job Training Council.

At issue is whether Romulus should be allowed, by permission of the governor, to join . . . the Downriver-Monroe service area.

The meeting was held to hear comments regarding the recent petition by Romulus to secede from its current position with the Wayne County Private Industry Corporation.

McAnally said she feels assured that the unemployed within the city will fare better if they join forces with the downriver job training council.

"When we joined the Downriver Community Conference in October, we did so with the resolution that by joining, it accorded to Romulus full membership, full responsibilities with the full benefits the D.C.C. had to offer," she said.

The recent bid, however, has Wayne County's PIC director, Barry Hawthorne, struggling to maintain the relationship to Romulus.

"Our basis position is that all this is unnecessary," Hawthorne commented just days after the public hearing in the city council chambers.

"There are provisions for coordinating policy in the job training act. We ought to sit down and work out such an agreement," he said.

Kathy Alessandro, director of employment training programs for the D.C.C., said that by virtue of Romulus having joined the D.C.C., their political boundaries changed, allowing for the realignment of the Downriver-Monroe Service Area to "automatically" include Romulus.

"When the political subdivisions change, it goes without saying that the service area changes," Alessandro stated during the meeting and again during a telephone interview. McAnally agreed but said her motives were less politically than economically motivated.

"I have been here for years in one capacity or another and now as mayor," she told the three-member job training council. "I only mention that because it underscores the reason we've entertained thoughts of joining the D.C.C. Mr. Hawthorne alleges that we have enjoyed the services of the Wayne County PIC. I only know that now. For the past two years, I have not heard from them."

McAnally said that while the city apparently has been a part of the Wayne County PIC program for the past 12 years, her experience in dealing with the job training entity has been "minimal."

"If there had been some responsiveness on (the part of

At issue is whether Romulus should be allowed, by permission of the governor, to join—or have the imaginary lines delineating the state service areas be realigned—to include the city with that of the Downriver-Monroe Service Area.

Wayne County, by virtue of divisions set up by the governor to enhance job training opportunities, operates under three service delivery areas: Detroit; the communities of the D.C.C. and thirdly, all other areas are combined into one service delivery area.

'Maximize benefits' Future of city deemed promising

By Christine Rizk
ANP Staff Writer

If Mayor Beverly McAnally's vision of Romulus is accurate, the city is about to embark on a new beginning by "maximizing" the benefits of its natural resources, Metropolitan Airport and expanded business activity.

The renewed message of economic security and the promise of even greater advantages once the city strengthens its "control" over its economic options was delivered by McAnally during her traditional first-of-the-year Romulus Chamber of Commerce speech Jan. 21.

"I foresee expansion of the airport," McAnally told the crowd gathered at the Holiday Inn. "There are 'visionaries' who see this about to come to pass, to maximize benefits, to control it before it controls us, to make this city one of the most exciting, dynamic communities in the country."

McAnally said while the Detroit Metropolitan Airport presents some problems to the community, it is a "mixed blessing" and adds to the list of resources.

"I know it's hard to get a handle on this viable and living creature," she admitted.

Enumerating the activities that have taken place since she took office, McAnally said that the installation of tax increment finance authority boundaries (T.I.F.A.) will enhance the city and induce economic development.

T.I.F.A. areas are those secvelopment ventures.

The $230 million General Motors development will further enhance the city and draw are greater number of "spin-off" industries into the area, she said.

"So when you hear people saying that they're giving everything away to GM, they are wrong," she added. "They are only getting half of what they're giving."

"We have to work on improving the appearance of our community," she continued. "We have to keep our looks up for potential developers."

Joining the Downriver Community Conference received billing as a another positive move for the city. McAnally said that "adding a seaport to our many assets" was one of

Inn seeks workers

Management from the Days Inn Hotel, scheduled to open April 1, will interview applicants for 100 full-time positions at the facility beginning Tuesday, Feb. 4 - 7 at the Romulus City Hall.

Applicants will be interviewed for employment at the 179-room hotel between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. on Tuesday and Friday and from 9 a.m.-8 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday.

Positions include waiters/waitresses, front desk clerks, housekeepers and cooks. Days Inn employees are entitled to benefits that include health insurance, paid holidays, vacations and sick days.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally said that the Days Inn Hotel is one of the latest examples of the business boom in the city.

"The hotel represents a new, full-service lodging concept aimed especially at business and professional persons, as well as vacationers. It will add a new dimension to lodging facilities near what has become one of the nation's busiest airports."

Conducted in cooperation with the Wayne County Private Industry Corporation, employment recruitment and training will be partially-funded by a $1.5 million grant awarded by the U.S. Department of Labor. The hotel, located on Wickham Road near Detroit Metropolitan Airport, features a restaurant, lounge, meeting rooms and an indoor pool and whirlpool.

Only by "sharing the tax load will it become lighter," she told the audience.

Conway said that in addition to the "good sense" consolidating airport law enforcement activities made and the possibility of saving money (the county executive previously consolidated airport firefighters at a savings to the county of about $1 million), Northwest Orient Airlines is expanding and wants to rent more space.

Apparently, the administration offices will be moved into the former state trooper location and the available space

When the snow flies . . .

Residents are urged to pay strict attention to these signs at the risk of great damage to their pocketbooks.

Recently posted around the city to make the public aware that a city snow ordinance does exist, the signs warn residents that parking is not permitted on city streets during a snow emergency.

Persons found parking vehicles on the roads during a snow or ice storm, and thus preventing snow removal equipment from adequately cleaning the streets, will be ticketed up to $500 and/or receive a jail sentence not to exceed 90 days.

During snow accumulations of three inches or more, vehicles must be parked off the street or owners risk a misdemeanor charge.

The snow ordinance, on the books for awhile, has not been strictly enforced before. Judging from the recent bout with snow, members of the ordinance department assure that they'll be looking for violators.

State troopers vacate Metro

By Christine Rizk
ANP Staff Writer

State police officials who last week said they would not comply with an order to vacate their office at Detroit Metro Airport were served Monday with an eviction notice.

The notice, filed by the airline corporation counsel, informed the state troopers stationed at the airport that they must immediately vacate the building or face court penalty.

"We're asking them to move to a new building, our communication center, where the Wayne County Emergency Management division is located and where the Wayne County Sheriffs will be located," said Mike Conway, spokesperson for County Executive Bill Lucas.

State police were informed in April 1985 of the county executive's intentions of "consolidating" law enforcement activities into one building.

Detectives located at the airport had until Dec. 31 to vacate the premises but were issued orders by superiors to remain until a letter sent to the county executive pleading their case was addressed by Lucas.

The site of the new building is located approximately one mile from the airport terminals. It is still situated, Conway said, on the airport proper.

"The problem is this: They asked us to move to a building totally removed from the airport," said Major Lewis Smith, Deputy Chief of Detectives for the Michigan State Police. "Our role is entirely different from that of the sheriff department and we feel it is an absolute necessity to maintain our office at the main terminal if we are to remain vital."

Not so, said Conway, who added that the sheriff's department "doesn't seem to feel that way" about the move.

"They can deploy their people from anywhere," he said. "What office they do that from shouldn't matter."

Festival volunteers sought

By Christine Rizk
ANP Staff Writer

Plans are in the making for another round of activities for the Romulus Michigan Week Festival scheduled for May 16-18 but organizers are pessimistic about the outcome since volunteers for the event have been scarce.

"We need volunteers to coordinate activities, booths and to handle donations," Bill Crane, president of the Romulus Central Business District. "We aren't going to get anywhere without help from the community."

Crane is hoping for a healthy turn-out for the first festival meeting scheduled for 7 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at the Senior Drop-in Center/Recreation Building located at 36515 Bibbins.

The Michigan Week Festival, the brainchild of area business men and women and community-spirited residents, is an off-shoot of Downtown Days, a theme used in the city to promote downtown business activities.

Beginning Friday, May 16 and continuing to Friday, May 23, if all goes as planned, Romulus will host its 4th festival, consisting of continual carnival activities.

But the preparations leading to the event are what worry Crane, who said that traditional volunteers have moved on to other activities, leaving a gap

Servants take TIPS from trainers

By CURT JORDET
ANP Staff Writer

It doesn't usually take very long for someone who has had too much to drink to mess up an otherwise pleasant evening.

Whether it is an unruly patron, an obnoxious party guest or all too tragically a lush behind the wheel of an automobile, the person who drinks to excess generally does an excessive amount of damage to himself and the others around him.

It was with that in mind, then, that a small group of establishments serving alcoholic beverages recognize and discourage customers from drinking too much.

"It is an effort to make the server more aware of exactly who he is serving," said Field Market Manager Bill Ventola of Central Distributors of Beer, Inc. "We want the server to be able to make his establishment a more sociable place to be."

Ventola, a driving force behind the project in western Wayne County, is one of the chief promoters of the program TIPS. Training In-

"It's not too hard to notice who the person is who is going to drink too much if you know what to look for," said Ventola. "For instance, does a person gulp down his drink or does he sip it? Does he order stronger, more potent drinks? And is he helping to absorb that alcohol by eating something, or is he also taking medication?"

"These are the kinds of things to go a long way toward predicting how well a person is going to handle their liquor."

But while some questions may seem cut and dried to the average person, the seminar itself is much more complex. Employees who are given the four-part course spend the first hour defining the effects that alcohol has on the physiology of the person and learning to recognize the potential problem.

From there, students are exposed to play-acting vignettes in which they look for clues to solving the baffling problem-drinker mystery. The fourth, and final, step involves the servers themselves taking action to discourage their customers from overextending their tolerable limits.

"There are many things that a bartender or barmaid can do to hold back the probmovers in western Wayne County decided to do something about it.

Sponsored, ironically, through a program promoted by national beer mogul Anheuser Busch and offered through the Health Education Foundation in Washington, D.C., a group of trainers at a beer distributorship in Romulus have begun the monumental task helping personnel who work in lem drinker," Ventola said. "They can provide a more sociable atmosphere in their place of business, add extra ice to each drink, make sure the customer has something to eat, slow down on repeat service and hold back on serving doubles.

"Finally, if all else fails, we recommend that the server deny service to the person who has had too much.

Serving sober

Bob's Hideaway in Westland, a popular dining and drinking establishment, recently participated in a program sponsored by the Anheuser Busch Corp. to recognize and discourage patrons from having too much to drink. Called the Training Intervention Procedures for Servers, the area-wide program has received high acclaim from businesses which serve alcoholic beverages. From left, Bob's head barmaid Karen Zelek and manager Curt Cuddeback listen while the program is explained by Central Distributors of Beer Field Market Manager Bill Ventola and Special Projects Director Nancy Colina.

But that is usually the last resort," he said.

For a $10 fee, TIPS students are given a test at the end of the course which is then sent to Washington for grading. If passed, the student then receives a diploma certifying him or her as a TIPS trainer.

Ventola said, however, that the intent of the course is not to raise revenue, but rather to provide a necessary service. "If they just want to sit in on the seminar and learn without becoming certified it costs them nothing," he said.

"We do this because we want to show that the consumption of alcohol is not necessarily a bad thing," Ventola concluded. "It just has to be properly controlled."

McAnally proposes move to downriver area

Wayne County PIC) perhaps I would have been encouraged but you're talking about activities that have been taking place in this city that I haven't even been consulted on," she said.

"I didn't even deal with Wayne County PIC for the Republic Airlines jobs. I had to deal with the county economic development corporation."

Hawthorne disagreed. He said Wayne County PIC has been negotiating with businesses to bring employment opportunities to the Romulus area.

"We have 44 separate businesses that we've been working with," he said. "That doesn't include the jobs Republic Airlines brought in—2,000 all together—or the new Days Inn for which we've placed ads kicking off 124 new jobs. We get employers not only to expand but to give those jobs to economically-disadvantaged people."

The idea, as brought forth by Hawthorne during the hearing, to combine efforts of both the Downriver-Monroe Service Delivery Area and the Wayne County PIC program doesn't appeal to McAnally.

"We have a significant unemployment and minority population, people who've wanted to take part in job training programs of the D.C.C. but have been told that because we didn't belong to their service delivery area, they could not be helped," she said. "We are much more aligned with the downriver area and I would rather deal with one entity as a coordinate for job training than be a member of two separate entities."

Alessandro said it was "impossible" for one city to belong to more than one service delivery area.

"We get allocations from the federal government from the state based upon how many unemployed we are servicing," she explained.

The Wayne County PIC could lose, reportedly, approximately $25 million in federal aid by losing Romulus to the downriver service area.

"I'm embarrassed and flattered by all this attention," McAnally said. "All I'm looking for is a more compatible relationship. If I can find that with the D.C.C. then I'll go with that. I think it is really too bad that we are in this push and shove situation. I want services for the people in my community. However I can get that, I'll pursue it."

McAnally admitted that she has heard from the Wayne County PIC "more frequently" now that she has stirred the waters.

"Sure, now they are placing ads and compiling figures of numbers of Romulus residents helped during the years," she added. "But the time to dazzle us with fancy footwork was during the last two-and-a-half years, I would think. They've been keeping their success a secret. Show me how many jobs were actually received as a result of their efforts."

A public hearing will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Westland Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road, Westland.

A decision should be delivered before July, according to Hawthorne.

Area juveniles suspected in arsons, property damage

By Christine Rizk
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus police are investigating several reports of property damage and fires to businesses and homes in the area of Goddard and Shook roads which they believe may be the work of juveniles.

The incidents, which have been labeled "minor" by authorities, have occurred within so close a time frame that police believe that local teenagers familiar with the area are responsible.

"It has to be kids from the area," Officer Eric Painter said. "Judging from the path along the railroad tracks that accesses the areas in question, these kids had to be familiar with the buildings. It certainly looked like they knew where they were going and how to get there."

At least five reports of either destruction of property or fire damage were logged between Jan. 22-23.

In one of the less severe cases, police responded to a report of a stolen five gallon gas can from a storage shed on the 10000 block of Sterling.

The theft occurred between 5 p.m. Jan. 21 and 8 a.m. Jan. 23, according to information obtained from the homeowner.

An attempted arson and malicious destruction of property were again reported Jan. 23.

A homeowner on Shook Road reported that ignited flares were being thrown at passing trains at approximately 3 a.m. While investigating the report, police discovered that a mailbox at 9784 Shook Road had been damaged, apparently by a flare.

That same day, another resident of Shook reported that the front door to a neighboring house had been kicked open and that an attempt had been made to burn down the house.

Police said smoke damage appeared to be minimal with minor burning reported.

Police also investigated an incident at Johnson Fuel Oil Company at 35780 Goddard Road involving damage to numerous trucks on the premises.

Police theorized that the juveniles entered an unfenced portion of the property, gained entry to the trucks and attempted to start several fires.

Although no fire damage occurred, police found evidence of flares having been ignited near the trucks.

Another business, the Wonder Bread outlet located at 37780 Goddard Road, was the subject of an attack by the same group, police said.

Investigators found ignited railroad flares tossed on a gasoline hose attached to gas pumps behind the store. The hose was damaged by fire between 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Jan. 23.

Another suspected arson—in a storage garage at the corner of Sterling Street and Goddard Road—was discovered at approximately 8 a.m. Jan. 23.

Police said the smoldering fire had been burning inside the garage for a while before passersby reported the incident.

Again, police said ignited flares were the cause of damage to tires stored inside the facility.

No structural damage was reported in that case.

In view of the frequency and the similar natures of all the incidents, police are warning late evening, early morning travelers to be especially observant while passing through the area.

Police are asking that anyone with information about any incident or those sighting suspicious persons near the targeted areas to notify the Romulus Detective Bureau at 941-8400.

State troopers evicted from Metropolitan Airport

will be rented to Northwest airlines.

"We're talking about an operation that wants to expand, one that will create more jobs," Conway said. "We're certainly going to try to accommodate them."

But who will accommodate the state troopers who, for almost three decades have held a spot at the airport, asked state police Director Col. Gerald Hough.

"We've made our case," Hough said last week. "Our clientele knows that we've been there all these years and we feel the nature of business can only be facilitated from there."

State troopers' responsibilities include surveillance of criminal activity coming into and leaving the airport. Their job, Hough said, is to act as an intelligence source.

According to Smith, the four detectives stationed at Metro Airport handled more than 250 criminal cases and between 40-50 arrests per year—including the apprehension of suspected Shawn Moore kidnapper/killer Ronald Lloyd Bailey.

Their main value, Smith said, was their ability to "respond immediately to requests to investigate" major crimes.

"Their duties are entirely different from uniformed sheriffs who ticket airport parking violators and conduct airport security checks," he added.

At least one member of the state police indicated that he felt it was a "political move" on the part of the county executive.

Det. Lt. John Shewll said the fact that "nobody will rent us any space" is a "political thing" designed to keep troopers out.

Conway said Lucas doesn't see it as that devastating a move.

"The executive wants to be sensitive but he does have ultimate jurisdiction over the airport," he said. "At the Middlebelt location, they'll be a lot more visible. It's unfortunate that they feel that way but things have to change."

The detectives will be transferred to the Ypsilanti post until further arrangements can be made.

It is not known whether the state police, who said they've provided their services free of charge all these years and who have offered to "rent" airport space, will occupy the communications building.

"I don't know," Smith said. "We're at a loss to understand any of this."

in the organization for this year.

"We've just got to recruit the right people," he said. "It's not a lot of work—most of that comes during the actual festival."

Crane estimated that if at least 30 people volunteer approximately five hours of their time to help coordinate the activities, everything should run smoothly.

Money from the festival goes toward purchasing a community gift.

Past festival proceeds went toward buying a public address system and creating a senior citizen's park behind the recreation center.

While the event has not always been a "great success" as far as monetary gains, Crane said that it helps inspire community spirit and awareness of downtown Romulus.

The week-long activities were reduced to a three-day festival because of a new law mandating liquor liability for those organizations dispensing liquor.

Despite one set-back on another, including the bad weather for the 1985 festival, Crane predicts a happier result for this year.

"We just have to let people know that we're doing this and get those volunteers out here—you know, the men and women who have some spare time between their jobs and families."

Jolted pooch

Puppy killed by electric sidewalk

By RAY DAY
ANP Staff Writer

It took Graydon Mullins more than three years to convince his wife to buying a new Great Dane puppy for his family. It took malfunctioning heated sidewalks at the Roosevelt-McGrath School in Wayne about a minute and a half to electrocute Murphy, the family's new playful pooch.

The strange mishap occurred last Tuesday as Mullins walked his 6-year-old daughter to school at Roosevelt Elementary. Tagging along right behind the two was Murphy, the dog the family had owned just two days. The ensuing accident was a sight Mullins hopes his family and the five or six onlooking children will soon forget.

"We were just walking around. My daughter was walking ahead of the dog. The dog just fell down on the ground and started screaming like he was having a seizure," Mullins reported.

"I tried to help the dog, when I picked him up it zapped me. Then I went to pick him back up, by then he was dead."

An onlooking student told Mullins that the dog appeared to be having a seizure, but it took only the sudden electrical shock he felt when touching the dog to prove the theory wrong.

Mullins indicated that school officials reported that what the dog experienced was 75 volts of electrical current passing through his body, apparently enough voltage to cause the 75-pound animal to go into shock, scream violently and die within only minutes.

Realizing what was taking place, teachers at the school quickly notified school custodians of the problem. The custodians, in turn, immediately and permanently disconnected the power supply to the electrical sidewalk at the order of Thomas Blacklock, deputy superintendent of the special education students to walk on dry pavement year round when exiting buses on the east end of the complex. A similar system was installed at the district respite center on Marquette but has been abandoned due to the recent incident.

"The sidewalk has been completely disconnected and abandoned," reported Blacklock of the Roosevelt-McGrath

"... When I picked him up it zapped me. Then I went to pick him back up, by then he was dead."

Wayne-Westland Community Schools, who had been in the school for meetings that afternoon.

The tragic death is still a puzzle to school officials who report that it was the first of its kind in district history. What is not a question, however, is the future use of heated sidewalks in the district at Roosevelt and at one other location.

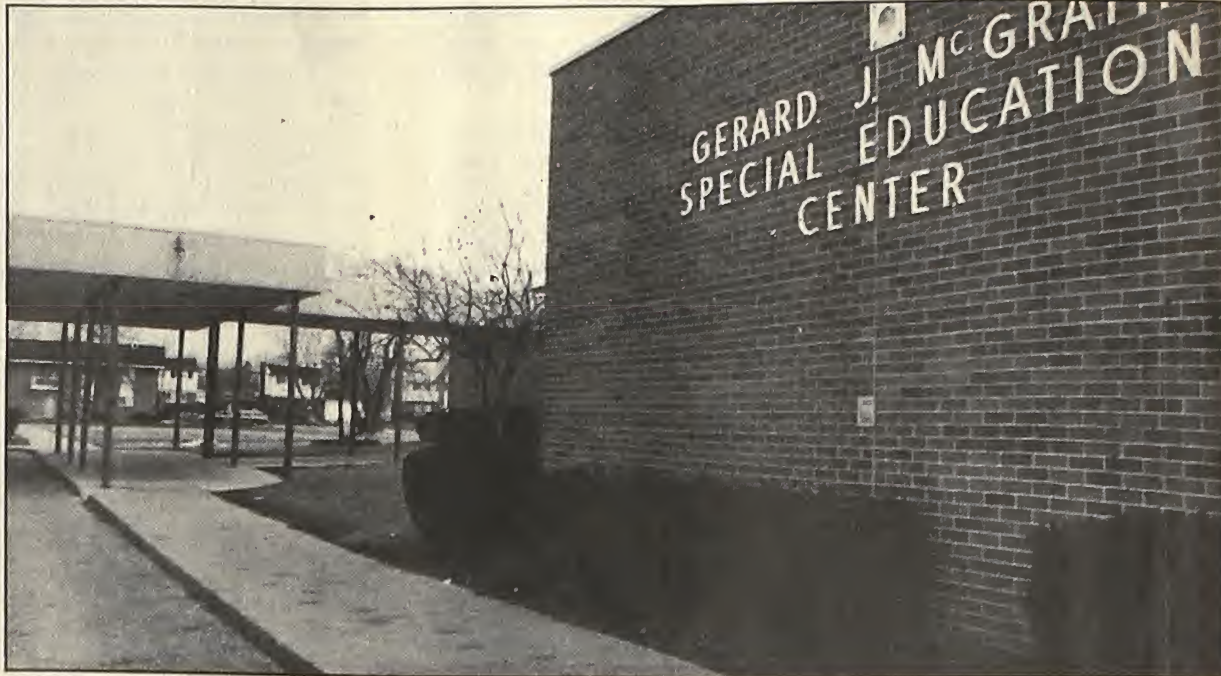

The electric sidewalk was installed when the school was constructed in 1968, according to Blacklock. The concept of using electric power to heat the walkway in the winter providing students with a ice-free sidewalk nearly all the time was a new one and was one highly touted by the schools. The Roosevelt-McGrath facility houses both elementary students in the Roosevelt portion and special education students in the McGrath section.

The heated sidewalk enabled

School. "The best thing we could determine is that the wire has deteriorated to the point that it was shorted out. This is the first incident that I was aware of."

The sidewalk was designed with electric wires embedded under the concrete walkway, according to Blacklock. Apparently, a crack in the walkway had allowed moisture to form under the cement which consequently began to deteriorate the wiring. With the wiring cemented directly into the walk, the school official reported that there was no way a periodic check of the underground equipment could be performed.

The Mullins family has a new puppy running around the house these days, another Great Dane. The Woodward Street resident reported that the school district has offered to pay him restitution for the loss of Murphy, a dog he has valued at $1,000. Originally, this plan would have been acceptable to the dog owner. But, a "running-around" routine school officials have asked him to complete before they will pay for the loss of Murphy has caused Mullins to consider legal redress in the dog's death.

"We are just trying to ignore what happened to the other dog (Murphy). At first I was going to do it (take the money)," said Mullins. "I talked to a school administrator and he said I would have to go out and chase receipts for the dog. It made me mad when he said that."

Apparently, Mullins spoke with Blacklock about repayment for the dog. The school official is reported to have asked for receipts before payment could be made. Mullins has decided to contact his attorney, although he is unsure how much money he will seek in damages.

Aside from the money issue, Mullins is still concerned about the possibility that someone else, perhaps a school child, could have suffered a shock similar to the one Murphy felt. Police report that Mullins and his daughter were not jolted because they were wearing rubber-soled shoes that stopped the current from entering their bodies.

Dear Letter Writer:

I am at the end of my rope. I am a non-drinking alcoholic and I just got fired after 26 years. The company said that I "voluntarily quit" and now I can't even collect unemployment. I am going to help myself, will you please help me with my company?

Sincerely,
PR

Dear Company President:

I have been an employee for 26 years. I have been loyal and company-minded with excellent evaluations throughout the years. My present difficulty became obvious in 1978 when I voluntarily submitted to treatment at the Alcoholic Center in Saline, Mich. At the present time, I am a non-drinking alcoholic and have been since 1981, after my second treatment at Brighton, Mich.

As stated clearly, in part by my physician:

"... patient in my care whose alcoholism has impaired her... job performance significantly in the past... has a chronic, relapsing, progressive and incurable disease... (she) is making a therapeutic act of surrender to the overpowering disease process which totally and permanently disables her from working."

Sir, this disease from which I suffer is mercenary and evil. Only another alcoholic and those professionals involved with alcoholics know how insidious it really is—how little control the afflicted individual has.

On or about Jan. 21, 1985, my supervisor called me at my house and informed me that, due to absences, I had five days in which to return to work. There was no way, I was incapable. Several days later, knowing that I had been fired, I went to the unemployment office whereupon I discovered that I was listed as a "voluntary quit." It is important to note, sir, that the last thing in the world I would have done is quit my job. I am a single woman, with a hideous disease. I am self-supporting and must work to live. I am only single-mindedly attempting to recover from my illness.

On Jan. 16, 1985, I began the process of appealing my dilemma. As of the writing of this letter, my appeal has been defeated at every level and is presently before the national board.

My life, it appears, is clearly in your hands.

As a human being and in the interest of fairness and justice for a long-time, dependable and dedicated worker, I am beseeching you to intercede in my behalf in my attempts to obtain a pension from your company. I am aware that there are numerous questions unanswered by this letter. I will make myself available at your convenience to meet or talk by telephone.

Thank you for your kindness,
PR

RESOLUTION: PR mailed this letter on Sept. 3, 1985. In January, 1986, she completed her treatment and says she knows she has been helped this time. Her job has been restored and she has truly experienced "human love." She is a new person, thankful for the support of those around her.

The Westland shelter of the Michigan Humane Society has several pets this week who are looking for a place to call home. Take, for instance, our two featured friends. Guss is a young cockapoo-dachshund cross who was brought to the shelter because his owners didn't have time for him, while Bonnie, a 10-month-old domestic feline, is a completely housebroken stray. For information on any of the animals at the shelter, call 721-7300.

ENJOY YOUR HOME. WITHOUT CUTTING CORNERS.

With electric heat, winter doesn't mean bundling up to stay warm in those hard-to-heat rooms. Electric heating units can easily be installed to provide warmth to the areas your existing system can't handle alone. And you can enjoy the luxury of turning them on when you want, for as long as you want. So you can save energy by heating each room only when it's in use. This winter, make the most of your home and stay comfortable with clean, efficient, economical electric heat.

Join the Navy and see the world

Todd Nado wanted to serve his country. He has been rewarded for his service with a life filled with fear, anxiety and pain. He is a lonely, frightened young man, reduced to an existance dependant solely on his ability to do constant psychological battle with himself.

Todd Nado is the young sailor whose story was told on our pages last week. A Romulus High School graduate who enlisted in the Navy, with the tentative approval of his family, in an effort to get an education, and earn his own way in the world as he did so.

Todd's is a story which ends in tragedy. The victim of a brutal and vicious attack, he spent five months recuperating from 55 stab wounds to his face, neck and chest. While the Navy confirms the incident, spokesmen refuse to comment on the investigation which has dragged on interminally with no results.

All that is known - and the substance of Todd Nado's nightmares - is that his assailant is a fellow sailor, stationed on the same base.

Todd does not know the man who permanently scarred him so that even plastic surgeons cannot rid his upper body of the marks of the attack, but his assailant knows him. Todd is certain of that.

After his long hospitalization and recuperation, the Navy chose to send Todd back to the same base where the incident occurred. The same base where the man who did this to him remains. Todd begged, pleaded and went through every channel available to him to obtain a transfer. Finally, after the intercession of doctors and mental health professionals, the Navy relented and sent Todd to a different base, exactly 20 miles from where the attack took place.

Todd's fear is real...and his anxiety is eating at his mind and his personality. He has become withdrawn, nervous and suspicious and he lives with only one pervading emotion, fear.

The Navy authorities have taken no action. His pleas to be transferred are ignored. Life in the service of his country goes on.

Whose responsibility is it, then, to care for the young men who put their lives in the hands of their country. Where is the responsibility for their well being and care. Does enlistment in the service include the total subjugation of physical and mental well being? Are our servicemen less than human,

to be treated in a manner much like machines?

We think not. We think Todd Nado deserves care and consideration. We think the psychological damage done to him needs as much care and treatment as the physical. We wonder if Todd were a woman in the same circumstance if there would be any question about a transfer from the scene of the crime, let alone an honorable discharge from the service.

Congressman Bill Ford appears to agree with us. His office has already contacted the Nado family and an investigation and intercedence, if possible, have been promised. If Ford finds that the facts are as Todd and his family have presented them, his office has assured the Nados of any help and influence the congressman might be.

But Todd's story makes us wonder, as did the painful story of the young sailor exercised to death aboard his ship not long ago, about the attitudes and disciplines of the men in charge of these young soldiers and sailors. The military rules are there for a purpose, as is the military tradition and method...but can it be that these have overshadowed basic humanity? In this case, it would appear that is the instance. Have these young men been reduced to no more than commodities to those in charge of them? Are they no longer fellow human beings, living, breathing, and feeling, just as all of us?

Perhaps Todd Nado will be helped. For the peace of mind of each of us with sons, we would hope so. But in the face of the action or inaction of those bureaucrats who have allowed their procedures and policies to overtake common human decency and consideration for their fellow humankind, we would wonder at the safety of any and all the young men subjected to their "leadership."

It has been said that military service can make a man out of a boy...we would wonder, however, just what kind of a man would that be...and how many die, physically or spiritually, getting there.

And, we wonder, how long Todd Nado would have remained in the service after this attack if his last name were the same as say, a congressman, senator, admiral or diplomat.

But most of all, we hope Congressman Ford hurries.

flying solo

By David J. Willett, Publisher

The flutter of angels' wings

It had been a good convention, the 107th annual Michigan Press Association meeting. Richard De Vos himself had welcomed the group to his Amway Grand Hotel in Grand Rapids...and Governor Jim Blanchard had spoken to the record-breaking crowd of journalists. Edmund Arnold, the grand master of newspaper design, stimulated our thinking, made us laugh and taught us how to do our job better.

We had heard about the technology rapidly invading the newsroom and had even seen Governor Jim's infamous charts demonstrating the fine management of our state during his tenure (enough, already!) We heard the pitch for the Sesquicentennial for the "first time publicly" again, and listened to the inside gossip from Washington Post White House Correspondent Lou Cannon. It's like coming home again to meet with one's peers from across the state...we trade stories, gossip and exchange ideas. What could be better? As the Saturday night dinner meandered to a conclusion, retiring MPA President Tom Huckle of the Cadillac News introduced our new president, Rudy Petzold, publisher of the Carol, Tuscola County Advertiser.

Exciting stuff, right? "Oh, boy, I hope this Rudy guy makes it quick," most of us were thinking, "I'm really tired of sitting." Who would have thought what was to come would be the most moving moment, at least for me, of the many years of MPA meetings I've attended.

I confess that Rudy, until now, has only been another name on the list of attendees for me, and occasionally, a face across the room at meetings and seminars. I had noticed earlier that his vaguely familiar face had been rolled into the reception prior to dinner in a wheelchair. "I wonder what happened to him," I recall thinking, not even connecting the name and the face, let alone recalling that this man was our incoming president. Having missed the last two annual meetings, I had lost track of the succession of officers.

As Huckle introduced Rudy, he quickly brought it all in focus for us. Rudy, it seems, had an aneurism a few years ago that doctors did not expect he would survive. Although Petzold did survive, he remains paralyzed on his left side. Yet here he was, struggling to walk, barely able to lift himself from his wheelchair to his feet, and leaning heavily on Huckle's arm, falteringly attempting to mount the few steps to the podium. As his fellow publishers and editors watched in silence, our new president fought a battle to mount those few steps to the Pantlind Ballroom stage to speak to us.

How easy it would have been for Rudy to pass the presidency and say he just didn't have the stamina for holding the office. Everyone would have understood, and yet there he stood, at the microphone--and we all hung on his every word.

They say that when your body is impaired in some way, your senses become more finely honed and Rudy may be living proof of this hypothesis. His remarks were sensitive, moving and chilling in their accuracy and meaning. He painted a mental picture for us of what our business is all about that was truly an emotional experience. His words spoke not only to the minds of the newspapermen in his audience, but to their very hearts and souls. But the most moving of Rudy's words came as he begged our indulgence so that he might introduce to us the table of people whom he described as very special to him.

Tom McIntyre was the man who had pushed Rudy's wheelchair into the ballroom earlier. "Tom has given up his life these last few years to help me regain mine," Rudy said. The standing ovation that followed his description of this young man was the audience's emotional response to such an outpouring of human sacrifice, friendship and love. "I believe that God sends angels in the form of human beings to help us all in our time of need," Rudy told us, "and so I want to tell you all a little story."

Fight fires with prevention

To the Editor:

How often have you heard or read about children and families dying in fires? How many of those fires were accidentally started by children? We need to reach kids and impress upon them the importance of fire safety.

Chief Joseph Benyo, fire educator with the Westland Fire Department, has always been available to talk with elementary, junior high and high school students about how to prevent fires and what to do if there is a fire at home, school or in other public places. He provides educational materials and encourages teachers and school administrators to teach fire safety.

This month Chief Benyo will be retiring but he will not be replaced. The Westland Fire Department has limited funds and believes that it would be better to have more people available to fight fires.

It's true, if my home were burning, I'd like to have as many fire fighters as possible working to save it, however, isn't it just as important to try to stop fires before they get started?

Many fires are caused by carelessness and ignorance. When there's a fire, we can lost more than just some furniture. We can lose a child, a husband, a wife, a relative or a friend.

We need a commitment from the fire department to have a full-time fire educator to help teach our children fire safety.

Democrats get offer of aid

To the Editor:

In reference to the letter from A. MacDonald, I presume of the Democratic Club, it should be pointed out that no one from the Democratic Club has approached me at any time, as of the date of this letter, with the problem of location for distribution of food. Also, to my knowledge, no one has approached the city council or members of the administration with this problem.

Further, I think most of the members of the Democratic Club are aware that in the past I have offered my services and rendered aid when they have had difficulty with the program.

Plant contributes $1,000

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, Nov. 26, 1985, at 1:30 a.m., the Huorn Township Fire Department responded to a fire at our New Boston Packaged Material Plant. Because of this volunteer group's almost immediate action, the blaze was promptly contained and the physical damage to our facilities was minimized. Genstar Stone Products Company wishes to publicly thank this fine group of community-minded individuals by contributing $1,000 to the Department Rescue Mission Fund.

Students ask for holiday

To the Editor:

We here at Lincoln School think we should get Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday off. I am sure the teachers would like to have time off besides the weekend and holidays.

Plus, Dr. King's birthday is a national holiday and federal and state offices have off.

The Legislature has taken action to try to find out more about what can be done for victims of the dreaded Alzheimer's disease.

The resolution adopted by the Legislature asks the Chronic Disease Advisory Committee, which is a unit of the Department of Public Health, to study the needs of victims and their families affected by Alzheimer's and the other progressive neurological diseases.

Alzheimer's disease is a presently incurable degenerative brain disorder. Over two million Americans have the disease, including an estimated 100,000 Michigan residents.

Alzheimer's, as well as Huntington's disease, Parkinson's disease and amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, are progressive neurological sicknesses which cause loss of intelligence, personality changes, incontinence and loss of understanding about time, place and people.

The strange nature of Alzheimer's disease results in stress, frustration and confusion for its victims and those

There remain many unanswered questions about the disease.

The resolution was also sent to Michigan members of Congress, pointing out that much who care for them. It is often difficult to know the need of its victims. It can be even harder for family members to accept a situation which often requires full-time nursing home care.

The money needed to care for an Alzheimer's victim is an added problem for patients and their families.

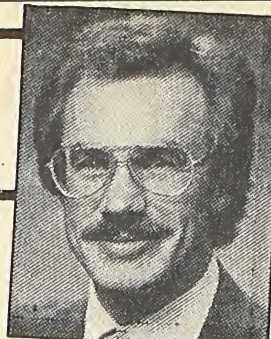

more can be done on the national level to encourage more education and training in the area of health care for victims of the disease.

Also related to disease control is a bill approved by the House which would make sure that complete information on forms of treatment is made available to victims of breast cancer.

This House bill would require doctors treating breast cancer patients to explain, in terms the patients can understand, about all of the medically-accepted alternative methods of treatment. This would include the procedures involved and the advantages, disadvantages and risks of each type of treatment.

The bill would further have the Department of Public Health prepare an easily-understood standard written summary that doctors could give to patients to meet the disclosure-of-information requirement.

It seems when Rudy was just a beginner in the newspaper business, a group of sixth-grade students came to visit the paper. As the class departed, one little guy hung behind and told him what a nice place the paper was, what a good time he'd had and that, "One day, I'm going to work here." Rudy, as we all would, smiled indulgently at the shining little face and dismissed the comments as childish enthusiasm.

Several years later, the same face appeared in his newsroom for a job interview with the managing editor. He got the job, but as low man on the totem pole, was the subject of a great deal of inter-office teasing and the brunt of a lot of barbs. Having listened to about his limit of comments regarding his youth one day, he announced to the managing editor that he would have his job within two years, and then to Rudy, "and I'll have yours within three, Petzold."

Well, the editor did leave within two years for another job, and then Rudy suffered his stroke and Brett McLaughlin took over. "If it hadn't been for Brett, I don't think the paper would have made it," Rudy told us. "I never did name the kid publisher, though, because I figured the title would be too hard to get back."

I know Rudy a lot better now. We all do. He is a man to be looked up to whether he's standing on a stage, or sitting in his wheelchair. Maybe our new president is right, maybe God does send us angels to bring us through or perhaps the message is that when we are fortunate enough to be seen as an inspiration for others who choose to follow us in our profession, we are truly fortunate.

And occasionally, if we provide them with the opportunity to learn, earn, and perhaps grow they, by God's grace, are there as a clone, to do what we are not able. They can carry on as we would and use what we have learned from those before us and passed on so carefully to them.

God bless you, Rudy. I'll never forget

Norton adds to article

To the Editor:

Regarding the article about my speech to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, entitled "Renaissance in Western Wayne County," I appreciate the article and thought it was well written and to the point. However, it should be understood that I did not criticize the businesses that I stated underestimate the Wayne market. This had taken place by virtue of the fact that Wayne's expanded business activities over the past several years were not anticipated by these businesses.

Further, in reference to the Chuck Muer restaurant, the article did not include my comment that since it has become Charley's, it is doing an outstanding job and its employees are enjoying great success from their efforts in bringing the restaurant to a new level of service to the community.

Walter and Joyce Rochowiak were in Atlanta, Ga., from Jan. 10 to 15 attending the national convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The federation has a membership of 6,000 farmers and the main purpose of the gathering was to form policy for the coming year with plans to make their needs known to the federal government in Washington, D.C.

Michigan topped all the other states in awards receiving 13 gold stars for performance out of a total of 14.

Part of the program each year is a discussion session for each state. In this area, Michigan came through again.

Larry Priest of Kalamazoo in Berian County won the national title and the use of an Allis Chalmers tractor for one year.

One of the really interesting aspects was the booths where each state could display its agricultural products.

Michigan's cherries and blueberries were very much in evidence and our state is one of the most versatile in the number and variety of agricultural products we grow.

Georgia's main claim to fame is, of course, peaches - but they also produce apple cider, nuts, pecans and ice cream.

The weather was beautiful - sunshine and 60 degrees for the entire stay - which increased the enjoyment of a special side trip to the University of Georgia in Athens.

Of particular interest to the Rochowiaks (owners of Garden Fantasy on Haggerty Road, Van Buren) was the visit to the botanical gardens which the university has just completed.

They also got a chance to see a couple of ongoing projects being worked on.

Hard boiled eggs are a staple of restaurants in the area and a machine is being perfected that can shell eggs automatically.

Another project is a computerized tractor which measures fuel consumption, weight load and equipment so that it can be used as economically as possible.

"All in all, a great trip," Joyce said. "And one that made us proud to be from Michigan."

Jim Sayres has been elected to the Executive Committee of the Michigan Farm Bureau Board of Directors. He has served as a board member for the past seven years and was also re-elected to his position as District 3 representative, which includes Wayne, Washtenaw, Oakland, Livingston and Monroe counties.

The Sayres Family has been farming in Michigan for over 100 years and Sayres Red Barn on Ecorse Road is familiar to many local residents.

Boy Scout Troop 754 spent the weekend of Jan. 18 and 19 at Camp Muscotaah.

Scouts who participated were David Anderson, Duane Beavers, Arthur Burke, Doug Groves, Kyle Higgins, Mike Neynabor and Mike Rowland.

Providing adult supervision and guidance were Mr. H. Bauer, Mr. Brent Beavers, Mr. A. Burke, Mr. J. Burke and Mr. L. Denison.

chef larry janes

Anytime of the year is a good time for a well mixed drink, but wintertime is particularly good for a well mixed hot drink. Now we're not talking about hot Ovaltine here folks. Let's refer to these confections as "apres-ski" drinks that are sure to warm the heart as well as the soul.

Of course, these drinks are not limited to the likes of Jean-Claude Killy and Suzie Chaffee (Olympic skiers). Let it be known that these drinks were enjoyed by the sedentary couch potato as well as the winter sportsman in our family. A close relative who acknowledges the fact that she was not born with a spatula and whisk in her hand found these recipes delectable and easy to prepare. (This was after reminding her that if one can manage day after day to blend satisfactory amounts of cream and sugar into the morning coffee, one can manage these recipes!)

When preparing warm potables, be sure to measure all ingredients carefully. Try not to imitate those free-pouring bartenders who trust the flick of a wrist and the tip in their pocket. The subtle blend of flavors that make a warm mixed drink memorable results from a precise combination of ingredients. Use standard measures like teaspoons and jiggers, ounces, cups or liters. When multiplying quantities for party drinking, try and be as mathematically accurate as possible.

For the best in concoctions, use the very freshest of ingredients. A fresh-squeezed orange will have triple the effect and taste from a quart of preconcentrated flavored water that was sitting in your freezer for one month. The surviving half jug of wine left over from the holidays will not have the flavor and kick of a just-opened bottle.

Unless a recipe advises to the contrary, don't slice fruit until just before serving. Oxidation will detract from the taste you so painstakingly tried to achieve. You don't have to use premium wines and liquors because blending overpowers the subtleties that give premium brands their characteristic qualities. Serve the drink in a suitable glass, cup or mug and be sure that it is sparkling clean, free from any soap or dishwasher residue. A preheated cup is a real treat. If you have a microwave and microwaveable cups, wrap them in a damp bath towel and place in a microwave on high power for 1 minute. Watch out, the towel will be hot!

"A close relative who acknowledges the fact that she was not born with a spatula and whisk in her hand found these recipes delectable and easy to prepare."

Let's face it folks, a hot sangria just doesn't make it in a plastic Care Bear mug. Heat your ingredients very carefully. Slow heating will give your flavors time to marry, but boiling will drive away the flavor and will leave a "burnt" aftertaste. Boiling also causes the alcohol to evaporate - the result being a punchless punch! Ah, W.C. Fields would have been proud. A word to the wise, after imbibing, stay off the roads and slopes. Drinking and driving don't mix.

GLUHWINE
Bavarian tradition had this wine being made in a crock and then, just before serving, a red-hot poker would be inserted into the mixture. The poker, in addition to heating the wine, made it luminous, thus the name Gluhwein or "glowing wine."
If you don't have a poker, heat slowly in a saucepan or over a candle.
1 quart red, white or rose wine
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/8 teaspoon fresh grated nutmeg
Combine all ingredients in a saucepan and heat gently. Stir until sugar dissolves. Serve in preheated mugs.

GLOGG
What's the difference between gluhwein and glogg? The addition of raisins, cardamom, almonds and water. Glogg originated in Sweden but it's as easy to prepare as gluhwein.
3/4 cup golden plump raisins
1 tablespoon whole cardamom
2 teaspoons whole cloves
1 cinnamon stick
1 1/2 cups water
1 quart red, white or rose wine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup blanched almonds
Rinse and drain raisins. Peel and crush cardamom. Combine raisins with spices and water in a saucepan and simmer 30 minutes. Strain, combine with wine, add sugar and heat thoroughly, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Serve in preheated mugs with almonds and raisins in each cup.

OLYMPIC WINE TORCH
(Makes 20 servings and looks great in a large punchbowl)
3 cups apple juice
1 lemon peel, cut into thin strips
20 whole cloves
5 cinnamon sticks
the juice of 1 lemon
1/2 gallon dry red wine
1/2 gallon port
1/2 cup brandy

Combine apple juice with the lemon strips, cloves and cinnamon sticks. Simmer 15 minutes. Strain, add lemon juice and wines and bring to a simmer. Heat brandy briefly, ignite and ladle slowly into the hot wine. Serve in preheated mugs. If you have trouble igniting brandy: after heating the brandy, take a tablespoon of it and place it on a sugar cube in a spoon. When the cube has soaked up some of the brandy, light it and empty it into the vessel with the remaining brandy. The sugar will act as a wick, keeping the flame alive.

HOT SANGRIA
2 grapefruit, unpeeled

Chef Larry at work

1/2 gallon dry white or red wine
6 cups apple juice
1 1/2 cups frozen orange juice CONCENTRATE, thawed
3/4 cup lemon juice
1 lemon, sliced thin
1 orange, sliced thin
4 teaspoons brown sugar
Cut grapefruit into 8 wedges. Combine with wine and juices and let stand, covered, for 6 hours. Add lemon and orange slices and allow to stand for 1 hour. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Remove grapefruit wedges, orange and lemon slices. Heat liquid over low heat. While liquid is heating, peel grapefruit and press fruit wedges in brown sugar and bake until sugar forms a hard coating, about 5 minutes. Place each wedge in a preheated mug or large stemmed glass, ladle in the hot liquid and add orange and lemon slice.

Note: it is important to allow the mixture to stand for at least 6 hours with the grapefruit wedges because the liquid will absorb a subtle tartness from the skin!

BULLSHOT
1/2 cup hot beef bouillon
1 1/2 ounces Vodka
dash salt
dash fresh ground pepper
Pour ingredients into a preheated mug or stemmed glass. Stir.

HOT BUTTERED RUM
If you're lucky enough to find Trader Vic's Hot Buttered Rum Mix, you're on your way, if not, try this, it's just as good!
for each serving:
1 cup milk or water
1 1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 cinnamon stick
3 ounces rum
1 tablespoon butter
fresh grated nutmeg
Heat milk or water over low heat in a saucepan. Do not let milk boil. Combine sugar, cinnamon stick and rum. Stir to dissolve. Pour into a mug and top with butter and a sprinkling of nutmeg.

Kuzemka – Balestrieri exchange VOWS

Teresa K. Kuzemka and Anthony J. Balestrieri were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony Nov. 16, 1985, at St. Joseph's Church in Trenton. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Kuzemka of Trenton. The groom's mother, Mrs. Anthony J. Balestrieri of Belleville.

Catherine Kuzemka, the bride's sister, served the couple as maid of honor. Bridal attendants were Sue Stockmeyer, Linda Adamas and Juli Balestrieri, the grooms sister.

The duties of best man were performed by Andrew Balestrieri, the groom's brother. Ushers were Steven O'Harris, the groom's nephew, James Kuzemka, the bride's brother and Craig Daroci.

A wedding luncheon followed

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Balestrieri

the ceremony at the bride's parents home and an evening reception was hosted at the Castaways Hall in Riverview. The couple honeymooned in Northern Michigan and are residing in Belleville.

Teresa is a graduate of Trenton High School. She is a travel agent for the Automobile Club of Michigan. The groom graduated from Belleville High School and is employed at Core Electric Company.

‘Living the Dream’

Several trustees from the Wayne County Intermediate School District signed pledge cards this month in relation to the national Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday. In addition to signing the cards, the board members proclaimed January “Black History Month.” Signing their cards and preparing to “Live the Dream” are trustees, Charles Akey (back row, from left); Boyd Arthurs; Mary Blackman; Dr. William Simmons, school district superintendent; Joan Hanpeter (front row) and Armen Barsamian, board president. The school board encompasses districts through Wayne County.

dans dogs

by dan a. morris

If you have ever seen a dog-fight or have had your dog attacked by a loose dog while out walking yours, you don't have to be told how frightening and potentially dangerous that situation is.

If your dog was the trained dog, you and he would have been taught how to react if charged by another dog. This training would (or should) have prevented any possibility of that happening because a trained dog will automatically look away from the attacking one, eliminating the challenge between the two, as well as stand quietly, not instigating further aggression.

The loose dog will sniff, possibly growl or bark, become bored by lack of interest on the second dog's part and, more than likely, move on to more entertaining territory.

The master, having been taught with his dog how to act should he ever be in a position named above, should be able to handle the situation calmly. If he is calm, his dog will be also.

Should the situation occur that either the master and his dog are not trained or the loose dog is a “true” fighter and will not back away but attacks the dog on leash regardless, the only alternative is for the master to drop the leash and back away slowly, allowing his dog to defend himself and prevent the possibility of being bitten by the loose dog as well as his own.

Once two dogs are in the throes of a serious fight, there is little the inexperienced person can do to break it up. The dogs will fight until one of them gives in to the stronger. Hopefully, neither dog will be seriously injured but, more often than not, this is not the case.

You will do your dog a grave injustice by holding onto the leash and pulling him away from the attacking dog. He will be able to escape injury quicker if left free and unencumbered.

As is always the case, the dogfighter got his reputation because of his owners. A dog must be socialized in order to become sociable. The dog roaming the neighborhood looking for a fight knows only one thing – isolation. He's a lonely, angry dog who, because of being staked in the yard, cannot be trusted anymore than we could trust a snake left in a backyard pit.

Again, we have another description of a dog given a bad reputation not by his breeding, but by his owner.

SEND IN THE CLOWNS. The 4-H Clown program is sure to make serious learning fun, according to group sponsors. Six weeks of training are currently being offered at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service giving future clowns tips in face and costume design, makeup, balloon making and skits. Those interested in serious clowning around are urged to contact the 4-H group at 721-6576. Cost for the classes, which begin Feb. 7, is $7.50.

THIS GROUP ISN'T CLOWNING AROUND when they speak of the Wayne Memorial High School Class of 1962 24th Class Reunion. The date has been set for Aug. 2 at the Ramada Inn at Metro Airport in Romulus. Any classmates interested in helping with the planning are asked to call Kathy Hayes (Quinn) at 728-4117 or Terry Crosby (George) at 595-8915.

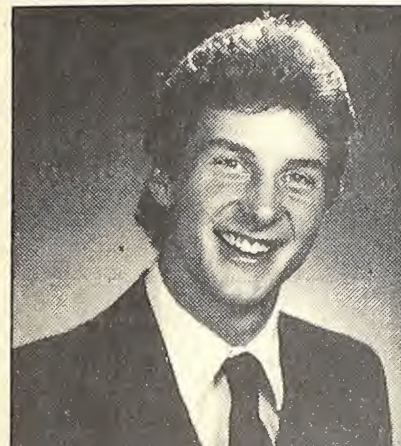

SEVERAL WESTERN WAYNE COUNTY YOUTHS have been nominated for the entering Class of 1986 at the U.S. Air Force, Merchant Marine, Military and Naval academies. The teens were selected by Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) who said that the youths “have extraordinary academic records and a broad range of interests, pursuits, extracurricular activities and athletic achievements.” Those selected include George Kapitan of Belleville, the son of Walter and Martha Kapitan; Canton residents, Jeff Brand, son of Loren and Tamara Brand; Richard Kreuscher, son of Roger and Valerie Kreuscher; William Tervo, son of Richard and Patricia Tervo; Westland residents, Jerry Jason, son of Jerome and Mary Jason; Scott Reynolds, son of Brenda Reynolds.

HOW TO QUIT SMOKING . . .

The Staywell® program is a health plan designed to help you gain a better self-image by helping you make improvements in your lifestyle. Not only with recommendations and advice (if that's all it took, anyone who could read an article would be in terrific shape) but with education and action, too.

BEYER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL, your community hospital, is pleased to make the Staywell® program available to you. Learn more about how you can quit smoking at a free introductory class at Beyer Memorial on Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 7 p.m. For course fees or more information, please call 484-2411.

VISA or Mastercard welcome.

"The changes were obvious," said Gary, a former smoker. "I wake up without hacking and coughing. I seem to be healthier overall. Mentally, I have a more positive self-image. I give myself credit for what I do in my life. At the same time I can admit to being human and I can make mistakes. It takes the pressure off . . ."

Jobless wanted:

Several employment opportunities open in area

Wayne County Executive William Lucas recently announced that 350 new jobs will open in two Dearborn steel plants due to a joint business-government venture similar to the program that netted 1,000 Republic Airlines jobs.

Wayne County Private Industry Corporation assembled nearly $1 million in total funding for projects at Double Eagle Steel Coating Company and Rouge Steel Company, providing the high-tech jobs for dislocated workers or those with barriers to employment in state-of-the-art steel technology.

Double Eagle is a Rouge Steel-U.S. steel joint venture for constructing and operating a multi-million dollar electro-galvanizing plant to produce corrosion-resistant steel for use initially in Ford and Chrysler body components.

Rouge Steel is establishing a new continuous-caster facility that streamlines the outdated method of making steel ingots by using a continuous casting process rather than conventional molds.

Lucas said the PIC became involved in the initial planning stages of the two projects at the request of former Dearborn Mayor John O'Reilly in concert with other economic development inducements offered by the city.

"The PIC has helped initiate and coordinate a unique total training package," Lucas said, "In doing so, (it) has established a true business-government partnership as envisioned by the federal Job Training Partnership Act.

"These high-tech projects will revitalize the hard-pressed steel industry in Wayne County, expanding the economic base of southeastern Michigan and, as a result, will create many new employment opportunities for this area's residents who are most in need of jobs and training."

PIC Executive Director Barry T. Hawthorne said the service assisted in the overall development and coordination of the training segments for the initial 100 new jobs at Double Eagle and the 250 at Rouge Steel.

He said federal, state and local agencies cooperated in the undertaking, with some 350,000 in government funding assistance pledged for Double Eagle and $475,000 for Rouge Steel. Major funding sources include JTPA Title IIA and Title III funds and educational "Quick Start" grants from Henry Ford and Wayne County Community colleges. Additional resources include a specialized training component customized by the Bureau of Safety and Regulation of the Michigan Department of Labor and other administrative and training support from the Wayne County PIC.

"This is truly a 'partnership' venture, which became a reality when funding was made available from a $1.5 million special award to the Wayne County PIC by the U.S. Secretary of Labor for Industry-Based Training programs as typified by the Double Eagle and Rouge Steel projects," Hawthorne said. "As part of the planning process, funding proposals were developed and submitted well in advance of actual training."

He said other major industry-based training programs are underway in Wayne County, and they, too, will improve the economic base of Wayne County, increasing job opportunities for economically disadvantaged residents and dislocated workers.

"We have already seen the achievements of the PIC's IBT program at Republic Airlines where nearly 1,000 workers have been trained or placed in less than a year in new high-technology positions," Hawthorne said. "Even more progress will be made as this innovative customized job training placement activity becomes better known to employers wishing to expand or locate in southeaster Michigan."

Commenting on the projects, T. R. Tighe, Double Eagle in-Employment service offers teens job help

A campaign to help unemployed persons receive free job training and placement assistance has been launched in Wayne and surrounding communities.

The Private Industry Corporation of Wayne County in conjunction with the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service urges jobless residents in Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Inkster, Belleville and adjacent townships to apply for employment assistance at the Cooperative Extension Service, 5454 Venoy Road, or call 728-JOBS for additional information.

The job-candidate recruitment drive follows the award of a $1.5 million U.S. Labor Department grant to the PIC to expand its training and placement program. The PIC has already been training and placing individuals with Republic Airlines, manufacturers and suppliers, and with other local industries. The new award will move that program forward, according to PIC officials.

"This recruitment drive advances Wayne County Executive William Lucas' objectives to provide job opportunities for Wayne County's unemployed workers," said Barry T. Hawthorne, PIC executive director. "Our District Referral and Information Office at the Cooperative Extension Service will spearhead this innovative new program locally. Professionally trained personnel there will advise applicants of qualification requirements and describe individual job training programs."

Hawthorne said that nearly 75 percent of the adults trained under the PIC programs are placed in permanent employment at some of the highest wages of any PIC group.

In general, he added, candidates must be at least 16-years-old, have a low-family income, and if male, be registered with the Selective Service System. Equal consideration is given to all applicants regardless of race, religion, sex or nationality.

Gary Greenwell, program director of the Cooperative Extension Service, said, "Training will be provided for high-demand jobs in the building services, auto mechanics, auto body repair, printing technology, culinary arts, medical and dental services, horticulture and as airline reservationists.

Other programs in this innovative training and placement program can involve on-the-job training, adult basic education and English as a second language," he added.

Industrial relations manager, said, "These new state-of-the-art processes are essential to meet domestic and foreign marketing challenges. To put these processes into effect, we must conduct a degree of training unprecedented in the domestic steel industry. The Wayne County PIC has had a major impact on our programs by providing essential training services and funding resources for our workers. This assistance is helping us achieve our high-tech training objectives."

New multi-million dollar facilities for the high-tech operations are being constructed at both companies. Training is receiving priority attention in preparation for the start of production this spring.

"When these plants become fully operational," Lucas said, "They will once again establish Wayne County and southeastern Michigan as a front-runner throughout the nation in the dynamic steel processing industry."

Eagles (13-0) in dual meets

Claiming four of the 13 individual weight categories, Romulus captured the 1986 edition of the Melvindale Invitational Wrestling Tournament conducted over the weekend. Coach Wayne Schimming's grapplers, who are also undefeated in dual meet competition, piled up a narrow 9.5 point margin over its closest rival, Monroe. Romulus had 170.5 team points while the runner-up garnered 161. "We looked pretty good," said Schimming after his team won its fourth tournament title. Romulus also finished first at Belleville, Ypsilanti Lincoln and Riverview. The Eagles are undefeated in 13 dual meets this season. Steve Anderson, the Eagles' heavyweight, strolled off the mats with a gold medal when he destroyed Saline's Jeff For-stner via a 3:00 pin. Teammate Matt Scully, a 119-pounder, also pinned Nick Majors in the finals in 2:32 for a gold. Majors, who hails from Monroe Jefferson, was Scully's third victim by a fall which sealed for Scully the coveted "Hustler's Award" presented to the wrestler with the most number of falls in the least amount of time. Romulus also captured a first place in the 126-pound class when Jim Schlener edged Riverview's Brian Hooey, 7-6, and Bob O'Day, Romulus's representative in the 198-pound class, also received a gold for his 13-6 victory over Melvindale's Tony Durocher. Although shutout from the silvers, Romulus had a third place in 132-pounder Kevin Tracy who defeated Westland John Glenn's Glenn Cemezar, 5-2. The Eagles place fifth with

Hung Nguyen(98), Tony Venturini (105) and Bob Crain (185). In the meantime, defending Wolverine A Conference champ, Belleville, buried Wyandotte 69-6 for its fourth consecutive league victory. Undefeated Inkster clashes with arch-rival, Highland Park

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A victory over Highland Park on Tuesday would provide defending Suburban Athletic Conference basketball champ, Inkster, with the key to an unprecedented second unbeaten SAC season. "Although Highland Park and us have won the titles with perfect records," notes Inkster Coach George Thompson, "no league team has ever won it two straight with unblemished records. Inkster must get pass always tough, River Rouge, on Friday before forcing the issue with Highland Park on Tuesday. The Parkers(3-1 in the SAC) will have the home court advantage after losing to the Vikings(4-0 in the SAC, 10-0 over-all) the first time around in Inkster. Inkster has been playing some of its best basketball in recent years as the Vikings chalked up their 10th consecutive victory against no losses at the expense of Willow Run, 78-67. Calvin Hayes drilled 10 of his team's 20 points in the first period and Dennis Walker joined in with 12 of his evening's 16 points in the first half to lift the Vikings to a 17-point edge, 39-22, at the intermission. Substituting freely most of the second half, Thompson had little problem in this one. He credited the defense which accounted for 14 interceptions as the key to the easy victory. And Hayes, a 5-8 forward, who is "Mr. Everything" to this team, proved unstoppable as he scored a game high 20 points. Walker finished with 16 while Darryl Green and Andre Davis accounted for 13 and 12 points, respectively. Inkster canned eight of 18 at the free throw line while making 35 of 64 from the floor; Willow Run hit on nine of 12 charities. Earlier in the week the Vikings disposed of their northern neighbors, Cherry Hill, in orderly fashion. Up 20-11 at the end of the opening period, the Vikings saw the lead slightly diminish when Marcus Lowe led a charge and brought the Spartans to within eight of catching up (37-29). However, Inkster erupted for 25 and 26 points as compared to Cherry Hill's 15 and 16 points in the last two periods to put their non-conference rivals in the loss column.

Lowe's 18 paced the Spartans while Walker and Barry Hardy sank 19 and 18 points respectively. Jesse Hardy, a pivotal player in Inkster's success story, reinjured his ankle in the first three minutes of the Cherry Hill game and has been placed on the doubtful list for this week. Inkster had to contend with Pontiac Northern last night, a team that the Vikings must get past if they hope to realize an undefeated regular season.

Rockets soar to 1st place

At the halftime of last Friday's basketball game between Plymouth Salem and Westland John Glenn, the Glenn Pom-Pom squad performed its routine to the Brownsville Station's "Smokin' In the Boy's Room." Well, there was more than just smokin' in the boys' room on this night. The Rockets also did some "smokin' on the court" as they blew past Salem, 77-55, and into first place in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Lakes Division.

"We had good balance with Steve, Andy, and Tony scoring 26, 18, and 16 points," Davis said. "Our running game is getting better especially with Gerry Diete-Spiff triggering the fast break. Our defense did a nice job shutting off their (Salem) inside game." The victory was the Rockets' fifth straight and raised their over-all record to 7-4, (6-2 in the WLAA).

Certainly the first quarter was no indication of how the game would go as both teams raced up-and-down the court on a break-neck pace. Mike Hall, the Rocks' leading scorer, hit for seven points, including a three-point play that helped his team take an early lead. But the Rockets have not put this streak together for nothing --- first place was on the line and nothing was going to stop them now. Andy Grazulis's

Romulus rolls past Truman

Highland Park is first to beat Eagles in Michigan

It took only eight minutes to convince Taylor Truman it was no match for Romulus and Coach Al Wilkerson's Eagles. With 6-9 senior Terry Mills tossing in eight points and guard Stevie "The Wonder" Glenn getting nine, Romulus jumped off to a 30-14 first period lead and never looked back. When all the smoked cleared, Romulus had stashed away an 89-72 victory over Truman and had sole possession of the Metro-West Conference basketball lead. The Eagles are 10-2 on the season, after losing to Highland Park in a thriller, 52-50, last Tuesday. Wilkerson emptied the bench in the first frame against Truman and everyone managed to contribute to the lopsided victory. Mill's 22 led Romulus while Juan Street chipped in 20 and Glenn, one of the best looking all-around cagers in the area, provided the winners with 18. Romulus had ample opportunities to stop the upset-minded Highland Park but failed to capitalize on them. The Eagles' demise came in the form of a sub, injected into battle with 24 seconds remaining, who whizzed past the Romulus defense to score on a layup with only four seconds remaining in the game. The decisive basket was provided by Titus Heath who entered the duel with 24 second on the clock. "We had our chances," Wilkerson admitted, "but couldn't convert. In the last minutes we missed on three one-and-ones and also missed a seven-foot jump shot. We have no one to blame but ourselves." Thus, Highland Park becomes the first Michigan team to defeat the highly-touted Eagles whose previous setback came in the form of a loss at the hands of an all-star team representing Mason County, Kentucky. The Parkers controlled the tempo of the game and managed to eke out a 13-10 first period lead. They increased that margin to 26-18 as the Eagles sorely missed on their shots and scored only eight points during the second period. See EAGLES Page 2-C

Belleville tankers edge Wayne

It went right down to the wire between Belleville and Wayne Memorial swimmers and Belleville managed to pull out a 91-81 victory over their Wolverine 'A' Conference rivals. Greg Lynch and Matt Stoelton provided the winning edge for the Tigers as Lynch claimed victories in the 200-yard freestyle (1:50.1) and the 100-yard breaststroke (1:05) while Stoelton had the best time for the 50-yard freestyle (24.30) and was second best in the 100-yard backstroke (1:00.01). Belleville's only other first place came off the diving boards thanks to the efforts of Raul Estrada who piled up 217 points to lead a Tiger sweep that included Gordon Clearwood in the runner-up spot (187) and Troy Pierce with 173. The Belleville medley team with Stoelton, Mike Ackron, Martin Duda and Eric Snider finished second to Wayne (1:47.73), while Eric Lawson was fourth for the 200-yard freestyle and Ackron and Snider were 3rd-4th in the 200 individual medley. Other Tiger swimmers who accounted for points were Duda, who finished fourth in the 50 freestyle; David Traskos and Martin Duda, who were second and third in the 100-yard butterfly. In the 100-yard freestyle, Eric Smith (53.46), Jeff Thompson, and Jeff Miller finished second, fourth and fifth, respectively. In the meantime, Eric Lawson, Ari Kar and Doug Duff were second, third and fourth in the 500-yard freestyle. The Tigers also were second and third in the final (400) yard freestyle relay.

Canton: Win some, lose some Spotting Northville 12 points in the first period, Plymouth Canton unsuccessfully battled uphill in a Western Lakes Conference basketball encounter and slipped 62-58 Friday night. The loss came in the wake of one of Canton's finest efforts of the season, a 67-47 victory Tuesday over North Farmington. Friday night

Coach Tom Niemi's cagers "couldn't buy a basket" in the first period against Northville. "We had our problems," said Niemi, who is in his first year as the Canton head coach. "Though we recovered, we just couldn't muster enough scoring power to overcome the deficit." Niemi also attributed the setback to the "lack of defense."

Northville, led by Don Norton and Kirk Morrison, who came up with a couple of crucial baskets in key situations, bolted to a 16-4 lead after the first period, but Canton came back and cut the lead to 28-21 at the half-way point. With senior guard Joel Mies, Dan Olszewski and Rog Trice providing the ammunition, Canton stayed within catching distance. But, outscored 16-12 in the third period, Canton started a rally later in the fourth period that fell short. Mies finished with 16 points, Olszewski accounted for 15 and Trice collected 11 for the losers. Norton's 22 paced all scorers. Canton built up a 30-19 lead at half-time and coasted to a 67-47 victory over

North Farmington. Mies and Jeff Lyle, who had nine rebounds against Northville, sparked Canton with 15 and 13 points respectively while Niemi commented the performances of Dan Young, Mike LaSota and Dan Foxworth who "played excellent all-around games." Niemi also credited the defense for stopping North

Little Bill's captures Over 30 W-W divisional hockey title

A thrilling 2-1 victory over Johnson's Carbonic gave league-leading Little Bill's the Bonkowski Division championship of the Wayne Westland Over 30 Hockey Conference.

Mike Clelland provided the heroics as he scored both goals for the champs while Ken Murray picked up the assists on both of Clelland's goals. Dennis LaPensee and Jay Middaugh finished with one assist.

Johnson's averted the shut-out thanks to Jim Creekmore who fired in the lone goal. Teammate Jerry Robertson was credited with the assist.

In the meantime, over in the Berrington Division, the race remains close with Metro Stamps holding on to a slim three point lead over Lindsey-Pavelich and Jake's Lounge. Lindsey-Pavelich closed the gap as they eked out a narrow 3-2 victory over Metro Stamp. Ed Spontack, Nelson Vanderburgh and Dave Milam skated into the scoring column for Lindsey's while John Clearwood picked up two assists.

Jim Miller, Jeff Carter and Dave Frankling received one assist. Milam scored the winning goal with 37 seconds remaining in the game.

Metro Stamp got on the scoreboard as Bob Black and Mark Santoni found the crease. Black also picked up an assist on Santoni's goal. Mike Kangas finished the game with two assists while Gary Fawkes got one.

Jake's Lounge handed Harlow Tire a 5-2 setback as John McFaddin carded two goals and had one assist. John Rogin tallied once and received one assist. Dave Zajac and Bob Jones accounted for the remaining goals. Al Farina received two assists while Terry basket at the 2:40 mark tied the game at 13, then broke the tie at the 59 seconds' mark with another basket. Greg Bates's basket with three seconds left in the quarter gave Glenn a 19-17 lead, one they would not relinquish.

Lindsey and goalie Dan Garrett got one.

Tom DiLaura and Gene Taurianien put Harlow Tire on the scoreboard with a goal apiece. Sam Jaffee, Dave Zielinski, Gary Stanbury and Doug Hackman picked up the assists.

V-D Roofing skated to a 2-2 tie with Johnson's Bakery.

Glenn slowly began to put the game away in the second period as defense and the fast break took its toll on the Rocks. Grazulis continued his hot hand with eight points, including a basket at the 1:23 mark that gave his team a 10-point lead at 33-23.

Salem stayed close because of the hot hand of Paul Makara, who scored six points, but the scoreboard read: VISITORS 25, HOME 35, as both Davis and Salem head coach Bob Brodie took their teams to the locker room.

The Rocks came out pumped up and did some smokin' of their own early in the second half as they closed the gap to 40-33 and had the Rocket fans biting their nails. Led by Makara's six points (he had 20 for the game) and Hale's basket at the 4:30 mark, the Rocks looked like they were about to make a serious move to take control of the game.

But Glenn accepted the challenge and Tony Boles, who has been improving with each game, scored six point to keep the 14-6 uprising that gave the Rockets a 54-39 lead by the 43 seconds mark of the third period. Hawley scored nine for the period, and Dan Liedel hit two free throws that helped propel Glenn to the 15-point lead after three periods.

Glenn kept up the offensive display as the fourth quarter began. Boles made it 60-47 with a great move to the basket that had the Rock fans roaring in delight. Hawley added nine more points to bring his gametotal to 26, the fourth straight game in which he had totaled 20 or more points. Tim Wiseley canned four free throws and high-stepping D'Juan Johnson two as the Rockets won going away.

Earlier in the week, the Rockets defeated Northville, 85-53, as Steve Hawley scored a game high 30 points and Grazulis accounted for 16.

The Junior Varsity continued to excel, improving its record to 10-1 on the season as they turned back Northville, 74-56, thanks to Eric Thornton's 14 points. Jeff Graham scored 17 and Rod Killingbeck had 14 as the Westlanders also posted a 53-44 victory over Salem.

Looking as if they had awakened from their sleep, the Eagles outscored their rivals 19-14 in the third stanza, making it a 40-37 game going into the stretch. Romulus never managed to gather any momentum and became Highland Park's first major casualty of the 1986 campaign.

Salem finds cage road very rocky

It was a week of mixed results for the cagers of Plymouth-Canton and Plymouth Salem. Canton defeated Dearborn 66-52 before bowing to undefeated Farmington Harrison, 68-48, and Salem found itself on the short end of a 61-40 score against Ypsilanti before rebounding with a 59-44 win last Friday against North Farmington.

Against Dearborn, the Chiefs extended their winning streak under first-year coach Tom Niemi to three games as guard Joel Mies led a balanced effort with 15 points.

"We played well," Niemi said. "The team played excellent defense and forced a lot of turnovers. Our rebounding was good and we shut down Dearborn's good players."

Dearborn's Steve Moore tallied 20 points to take game scoring honors.

After Dearborn, could the Chiefs parlay their hot streak into an upset of Harrison, the defending league champions? As Niemi wryly noted later, "Harrison was 7-0 coming into the game with us. They're 8-0 now."

Harrison raced to a 19-10 lead in the first quarter, but a strong effort in the second quarter left Canton within striking distance at halftime, trailing 33-25.

The size and skill of Farmington broke the game open in the third quarter, as Harrison took a 17-point lead by the end of the period. According to Niemi, "our inexperience showed. We were forced into a lot of turnovers by a good team. It was a very physical game. They have excellent outside shooters and they really hit the boards hard. Harrison can play," Niemi said. Harrison made its aggressiveness pay off at the free throw line, converting 24 of 34 opportunities. Canton made eight of 14 from the charity stripe.

Mies led the Chiefs with 12 points, while his backcourt mate Roger Trice had 9. Tyrone Reeves chipped in with eight points and eight rebounds for Canton, now 3-6 overall and 2-4 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Canton will spend this week at home, as North Farmington and Northville visit on Tuesday and Friday, respectively.

The Rocks from Plymouth Salem reversed the trend, losing its first game last week against Ypsilanti and ending the week with a victory against North Farmington.

The 61-40 blowout at the hands of Ypsilanti was explained succinctly by Salem coach Bob Brodie.

Debby Couch named Junior Miss Dance

By CURT JORDET
ANP Staff Writer

She's only 14 years old, but Debra Couch has already decided to pursue lofty ambitions that some people even twice her age wouldn't think of trying.

Of course, part of the reason for that stems from the fact that the pretty Westland resident is already well on her way

"Whenever possible I attend dance workshops on the weekends to further my dance education."

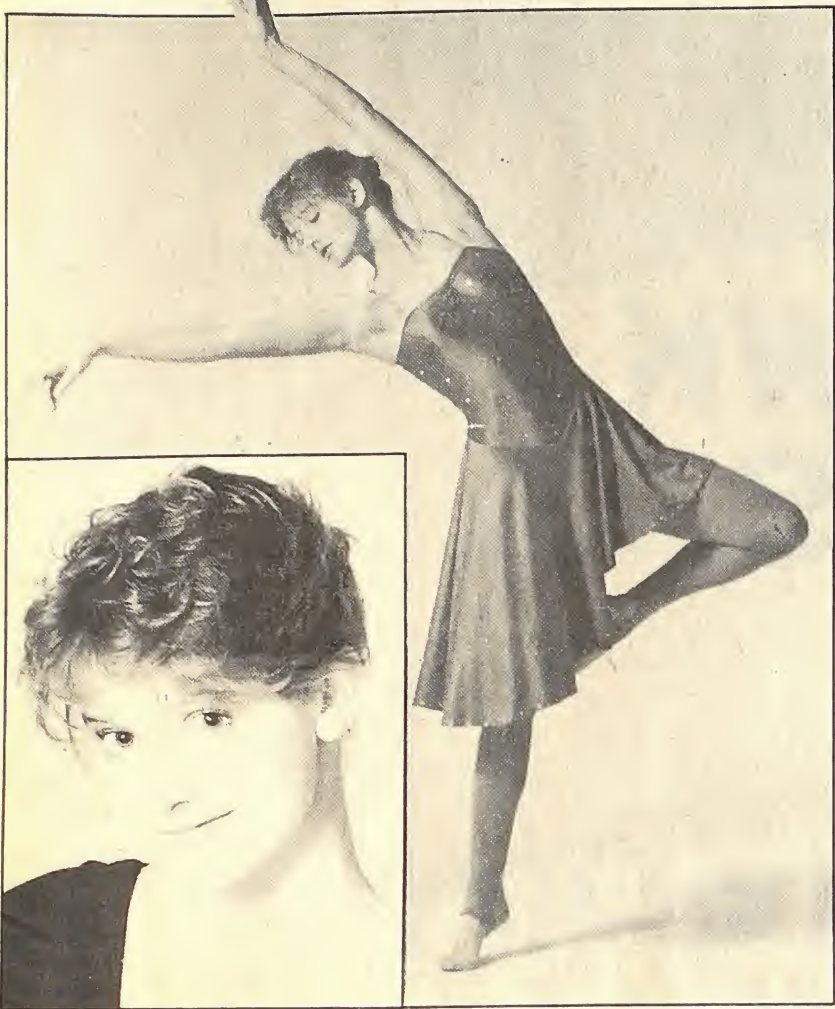

It's not that Debra has spent her entire life as a student of the arts, though she has given the topic a high priority. As a student at Stevenson Junior High School in Westland, the busy young lady has balanced her dance classes between a host of other activities, includ-her some much-needed experience in entering the national competition, where pageant requirements are the same.

Though somewhat awed by the prospect of performing in one of the top entertainment centers in the country, Debra nevertheless is looking forward to the challenge.

"I consider this to be a great opportunity for me to be able to dance for a week in New York," she said, "and plan on giving it my all."

Debra is the daughter of James and Janice Couch of Westland.

As the state title-holder, Debra will represent Michigan in the Junior Miss Dance of America competition in New York this July. It is an opportunity to make it big in the Big Apple, and the agile youngster plans to take full advantage of it.

Dance, however, remains a vital part of Debra's lifestyle. As a student at Joanne's Dance Extension in Plymouth, Debra spends countless hours each week refining and honing the skills she assembled through a 10-year career of jazz, tap, ballet, gymnastics and pointe.

She captured the state title with a superb lyrical jazz rendition to the song "Against All Odds," and impressed judges with her leotard modeling and oral autobiography presentation. Debra's strong overall performance will give

Huron plans 'Cat'

The Huron Civic Theatre will present Tennessee Williams' award-winning classic drama, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," the story of "Big Daddy," the dying Mississippi Delta plantation owner, his sons and their wives who struggle for the inheritance of his estate. The play will be presented two weekends of Feb. 8 and 9 and 14, 15 and 16. Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m. and Sunday curtain is at 7 p.m.

The theatre is located in the Huron High School Auditorium at 32044 Huron River Drive, New Boston (across from Michigan Memorial Park Cemetery). Tickets are $4.50 for adults and $3.50 for students and senior citizens. For additional information call 782-1505 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays.
